7. (Secret - JSW) Talked with [redacted] of the National Security Agency concerning the [redacted] case. He indicated that there has already been an informal briefing of HCUA and that the Chairman had been most constructive. Also there was considerable interest in the polygraph issue with the Committee of the view that polygraphs should be given to all military assigned to NSA. The issue is not complete yet with HCUA and there is to be a strategy session in DDCI on this on 12 November. In connection with the Internal Security Subcommittee, [redacted] said Dodd and his assistant, James P. Boyd, have been briefed and appear to be satisfied. However, Jay Sourwine and Sam Scott of the Staff wish further information in connection with a general review of security procedures in Government and it is now planned that General Blake and [redacted] will meet with Sourwine and Scott on 12 November. I indicated the Agency's general interest in following this suggestion that we might be of some assistance. [redacted] said he would be pleased to coordinate his work with us and would keep in touch.
